Tracks of Engagement

Applicants must self-select one primary track at the time of application:

1. Teaching Track

Visiting Faculty on the Teaching Track are expected to:

- Deliver courses, modules, studios, or intensive seminars aligned with their expertise
- Contribute to curriculum enrichment and pedagogical innovation
- Engage in student mentoring, workshops, or interdisciplinary teaching activities

2. Research Track

Visiting Faculty on the Research Track are expected to:

- Undertake independent or collaborative research with Woxsen faculty or research centres
- Contribute to scholarly outputs such as joint publications, working papers, or research proposals
- Participate in research seminars, colloquia, and academic discussions

Applicants must clearly indicate their chosen track (Teaching or Research) and provide a brief proposed plan of engagement aligned with the selected track.

Duration of Appointment

- Minimum duration: 15 days
- Maximum duration: 90 days

The exact period of residence will be mutually agreed upon based on academic requirements and availability.

Appointment Terms & Support

Selected Visiting Faculty will be provided with complimentary on-campus accommodation and meals for the full duration of their engagement, enabling full immersion in Woxsen University's residential academic environment.

Please note that the Visiting Faculty Program is non-remunerative and does not include an honorarium or salary. The program is designed as a platform for academic exchange, research collaboration, curriculum enrichment, and global engagement, and may be particularly suitable for faculty on sabbatical, emeritus professors, independent scholars, or practitioners seeking a focused academic residency.

Eligibility
